To mark the 5th anniversary of the start of the war in Iraq, United for Justice with Peace (UJP), will be holding a demonstration at the Park St. MBTA Station on Wednesday, March 19, 2008. The demonstration will run from 4:30 pm to 6:30 pm. UPJ's past anti-war actions have draw up to 1,000 participants. However, there has been some infighting within UJP as to whether the group should stop its anti-war actions during the election year in an effort not to harm the Democratic Party. This may hold the numbers down.

Also on March 19th, the "Smedley Butler Brigade", an anti-war group made up of older veterans, is calling for activists across the country to occupy the offices of their congressional representatives as show of protest against the war.
